Amstar Interiors was contracted to do the fitout for Marac's new Auckland offices, designed by Design No End. The prime top-floor space features a large skylight, and open-plan design and extensive perimeter windows to create a comfortable, light-filled working environment for the staff.

The décor incorporates a neutral colour scheme offset by accents of primary colours. This contemporary styling was conceived to present Marac as a young, progressive company.

Amstar's major challenge was achieving the completion of the fitout at the same time as the base building completion. The project's successful, on-time delivery was a result of a united effort by all the contractors and consultants involved in the project.
